

Land Mobility Brokerage Service

Confidentiality Statement and Privacy Policy

General Principles

The Land Mobility Brokerage Service is committed to respecting the right to confidentiality of all land owners, prospective farmers, and anyone else interested in the service. Confidentiality is fundamental and an absolute necessity. All information disclosed will be treated as confidential. Information provided will only be used for the purpose of operating the service and will only be made available to others, with prior permission, on a need to know basis for the purpose of provision of the service.

Basic Principles on Sharing Information

Information is shared only with consent and for the purpose of operating the service. All parties participating in the service must sign the confidentiality agreement. The service takes seriously its responsibilities under the Data Protection Acts.

Use of Information for Case Studies and Land Mobility Promotion

Information arising out of the service may be very useful for policy development, promoting land mobility, helping others, and other such purposes. Such information will only be used in a confidential non specific manner unless otherwise agreed with the relevant parties.

Confidentiality Agreement

I have read and understand The Land Mobility Brokerage Service (The Service) Confidentiality Statement and Privacy Policy (The Policy).

I agree to act in accordance with The Policy.

I am aware that information provided or obtained during the course of involvement with or through The Service is confidential and shall not at any time be disclosed in any form to any person without consent.

I agree to maintain safe custody of all documents, electronic or other material containing confidential information.

I realise that a breach of confidentiality is gross misconduct and will exclude me from involvement with or participation in The Service.
